Seven Others Suffer Injuries in County Accidents Over Week-End

DEWEY S. McCLELLAN, 29, Santa Ana man, was fatally injured at 12:45 a. m., Sunday, when the car he was operating collided head-on with a machine driven by L. C. Thornton, 4450 Towne avenue, Los Angeles, on the Coast highway, seven miles south of San Juan Capistrano.

A heavy fog was given by Thornton as the cause for the accident.

McClellan died in the Orange County hospital at 4 a. m., three hours later, without regaining consciousness. His skull was fractured.

Mrs. McClellan and her sister were riding in the machine at the time of the accident, returning to their home after visiting in Oceanside. Neither was reported injured. No one in the Thornton machine was hurt.

FLYERS GET FIRST STORY OF FLIGHT TO WORLD

FIGHT OVER BLACKLIST CHARGE EXPECTED AT D. A. R. CONGRESS

By JOSEPH S. WASNEY WASHINGTON, April 16.—The 37th Daughters of the American Revolution congress opened today in patriotic splendor with more than 3500 delegates present.

The congress opened sedately within an atmosphere of reverence but before the week is ended it is expected the 3500 delegates will be battling over charges made by Mrs. Helen Tufts Baile, Massachusetts, that the D. A. R. is blacklisting prominent citizens as public speakers and also entering politics.

In addition to this issue the election of seven vice-presidents is the most important business that will come before the congress.

Efforts will be made by Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, president general, to avoid an open discussion on Mrs. Baile's charges. The Massachusetts woman is not a delegate to the conference, but it was reported she has many followers who await an opportunity to open the subject before the assembled delegates.

Mrs. Brosseau has characterized Mrs. Baile's charges that the organization blacklists speakers and is entering politics as "absurd and too ridiculous to comment on."

Mrs. Baile, however, contends that the D. A. R. is an organization formed to perpetuate the memory of Revolutionary war ancestors and not one to enter into political life. She claims that organizations have no right to support a large naval armament bill and that it is not privileged to dictate what speakers can address its field chapters.

The Massachusetts opponent to the present D. A. R. officers claims the organization is being used as a tool for more sinister forces and that through Mrs. Brosseau it is being used to foster the ideal of the Key Men of America, a group which calls itself "a bureau of information on radical and subversive forces, movements, agencies and persons."

When this vital question is disposed of or shelved the congress will take up the nomination of vice presidents. Ten candidates are

JUDGE WARNS NEWSPAPERS AGAINST USE

Justice Bailey Announces Violation of Order Will Be Contempt of Court

PROSECUTION SCORES

Defense Testimony Tending To Show Teapot Lease Patriotic Act Excluded

BY HERBERT LITTLE (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, April 16.—Justice Jennings Bailey, of the district supreme court, today warned newspapermen attending the Harry F. Sinclair oil trial that publication of the deposition taken from Albert B. Fall, former secretary of interior, before it is formally introduced in the trial, would be considered contempt of court.

"I have been told a newspaper has published, or is about to publish the Fall deposition," Justice Bailey said. "In my opinion that would be contempt of court and if it is published I shall have steps taken to punish accordingly."

Fall, who was a co-defendant with Sinclair in the first fraud trial last October, gave a deposition in El Paso recently.

The government scored heavily today in the oil conspiracy trial, when Justice Bailey excluded defense testimony tending to show that leasing of Teapot Dome naval oil reserve was necessary because of oil drainage into other fields.

The defense noted an exception to Justice Bailey's ruling against drainage evidence. It was argued that the defense needed to introduce such evidence to lead up to the main points in the case.

Justice Bailey merely said "exception noted" and ordered the trial to proceed.

Roberts' Objection Upheld

Justice Bailey upheld the objections of Owen J. Roberts, special government oil prosecutor, that such testimony was irrelevant. He ruled it had no direct bearing on the indictment charging Sinclair and the Teapot Dome lease through conspiracy.

Evidence of three defense witnesses was stopped by Justice Bailey on government objection. First, E. C. Finney, assistant secretary of interior, was excused while testifying in support of Sinclair's contention that competitive bidding was not necessary on Teapot Dome. Second, the court ruled out exhibition by A. C. Veatch, Sinclair official, of a model of Teapot Dome to show the alleged drainage. Third, Carroll H. Wedgemann, former government petroleum expert, was prevented from answering questions of Defense Attorney George Hoover along the same lines.

dip their plane down to a dangerously low altitude.

At a lower altitude they found it easier to buck the wind, but even there they were fighting every mile of their way against the same head winds which spelled defeat for all who went before them on attempts to cross the North Atlantic from east to west.

Then, when they had flown long enough to believe that they were reaching the North American continent, the fog lifted temporarily and brought fresh cheer to the hearts of the courageous crew.

The head winds still were strong, but they hoped that the lifting fog meant that fair weather over Newfoundland was ahead of them.

Hopes Shortlived

Their hopes were shortlived, however, for presently they flew into a fog bank much denser and more forbidding than the one they left behind.

Then they ran into a driving snowstorm, which turned slowly into sleet, and they noticed that their plane was being weighted down by the coating of ice.

But they pressed their hardy Junkers on. They tried to hold it to its court, but found it impossible.

The gas supply was running lower and lower. They must reach land soon or plunge into the sea.

It was only about 20 minutes later that they were cheered by the knowledge they were flying over land. What land they did not know. But it was land, however isolated and uninhabited, might be, it brought fresh courage to them. They actually hoped to reach their destination, Mitchell field, and they kept on flying.

Forced to Land

Finally, however, at about 5:30 p.m., Friday, their fuel supply was reduced to virtually nothing and they realized they must land at once.

Nearby they sighted an island and made for it directly. They found a tiny ice covered lake almost below them.

They carried neither pontoons nor sails.

They came to a sharp and skiddy landing on the ice. The ice cracked and the plane's tail skid was damaged. The three weary men stepped out on the ice without a scratch or a bruise, the first men in history to cross the North Atlantic ocean from east to west without a stop.

Fitzmaurice Leaves Island With Schiller

Relief Plane Arrives At Greenly Island

By GORDON ROBERTS
United Press Special Correspondent
MURRAY BAY AIRPORT, Quebec, April 16.—The three daring masters of the plane "Bremen" whose westward transatlantic flight ended successfully at Greenly Island, today were learning just how their adventure had gripped the world's imagination.

A relief plane, carrying Dr. Louis Culsinier and Duke Schiller, arrived at Greenly Island last night. It had taken off from Murray Bay Saturday morning, was forced by a vicious storm to land at Seven Islands that afternoon and finally made the last part of the trip Sunday.

Sister Ship Of 'Bremen' Leaves For Montreal

CURTIS FIELD, L. I., April 16.—Miss Herta Junkers, daughter of the airplane manufacturer, left at 2:15 p. m., today, for Montreal in the sister ship of the transatlantic "Bremen."

Miss Junkers' brother, Erhardt, and Fred Melchior, chief pilot of the Junkers company in America, also were in the plane. They will wait in Montreal for word from Baron Gunther Von Huenefeld and his companions on Greenly Island, where the damaged "Bremen" is being held for repairs.

Before leaving, Miss Junkers said an aerial relief party would be organized if weather conditions permitted.

A message was received today from Huenefeld, asking for Benzol, a new propeller and spare parts. A landing gear and spare parts were shipped to Quebec last night by train.

"We will carry 100 gallons of benzol for the 'Bremen,'" Miss Junkers said. "Our principal purpose is to have the 'Bremen' as possible so that any part needed can be sent to Greenly Island. That applies particularly to the propeller now being used on the P-12, which is the only one we seem able to locate which would serve efficiently on the 'Bremen.'"

Increased activity was noted in the camps of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, and Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, also seeking to win California's 20 delegates to the national convention.

An exchange of statements by Henry H. McPike, state manager for Smith, and John O. Davis, serving in the same capacity for Walsh, added heat to the fight.

Halliday street, Delhi, according to a report filed at the sheriff's office by F. G. Yoder, state officer.

Ester Rangel, 26, suffered a badly lacerated chest, cuts and bruises; Angelena Rangel, 3, was cut seriously about the head, and Genera Castrena, 1 year old, was cut and bruised.

Taken To Hospital

The trio was taken to the Orange County hospital, where they received medical attention. Their injuries will not prove fatal, it was declared.

W. S. Brouse, Santa Ana, was reported slightly injured when the motorcycle he was riding collided with an automobile driven by Rowland P. Yeagle, Santa Ana, at First and Main streets, at 6 p. m., Saturday. The motorcyclist was cut about the legs, it was reported.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Brohommer, 2848 E. street, San Diego, were injured at 12:15 a. m., today, when the machine in which they were riding, driven by Brohommer, overturned, on the state highway, three miles south of Tustin, according to a report filed at the sheriff's office.

They were brought to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where it was said their injuries would not prove fatal. Both were badly cut and bruised.

According to the report, the Brohommer machine was crowded off the road by another machine.

The couple was brought to the hospital by R. H. Brown, 109 Cypress street, Santa Ana, who filled an accident report at the sheriff's office.

Carmen Reyna, 25, 1510 North Spring street, Los Angeles, was arrested Saturday night at Edinger and South Main streets on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, after her machine collided with a car driven by R. E. West, Santa Ana, Route No. 4.

She was slightly injured in the accident and taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where she remained until yesterday morning, when officers removed her to the county jail.

According to a report of the accident, filed by F. G. Yoder, state traffic officer, West was travelling north and suddenly made a left hand turn, causing his machine to collide with the car driven by the Reyna woman. West was not hurt in the accident, but his machine was badly damaged.

The woman probably will be given a hearing before Justice Kenneth Morrison today on the liquor charge.

16 Meet Violent Deaths On Pacific Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—Sixteen persons met violent deaths on the Pacific coast over the week end, reports to the United Press showed today.

Five persons were killed by autos in California, two were drowned, one was shot by a policeman and a seventh committed suicide.

Of the seven killed in Washington and Oregon, one fell from a horse, one committed suicide, one was killed in a fall from a window and four died in traffic accidents.

The dead in California: Andrew Viborg, 64, hit by an auto in Los Angeles.

Ask the Man Who Has Had One

WE MEAN an automobile accident. Do you know anyone who has had an accident recently? Any sort of an accident? If you do, ask him if he was insured. If he was insured, we are sure he will say that his policy was a great comfort. If he was not insured, you may be sure of hearing him say that he would have given anything for an automobile insurance policy.

It's the grandest feeling in the world, to own a Continental Casualty Company full coverage policy, when you have an accident. You may not realize this now, but ask the man who has had one.

We would be very pleased to quote you rates on this most necessary protection—there is no obligation, of course. Just write for information.

JACKSON STATUE PRESENTED NATION

Lauds Proclamation

In referring to the latter, Mr. Coolidge said:

"This proclamation has been regarded as one of the best state papers of any American president. It was thoroughly nationalist in spirit and had a profound effect."

It was in connection with the latter sequences of events, the president pointed out, that Jackson made the remark which has become an American classic: "Our federal union—it must be preserved."

The president's estimate of Jackson embodied numerous characteristics of him as statesman, soldier and patriot that have endeared him to the biographer and historian who delight in the spectacular. The president said:

"Thrown on his own resources as he was, he grew up proud and high-tempered, oftentimes violent in his disposition and considerably interested in the sports of the countryside. . . . He showed that he held opinions of his own by opposing a resolution in the house (Jackson was only 29 at the time) commending President Washington on his last annual address."

Respect for Justice

And in calling attention to Jackson's respect for the administration of justice:

"Here was a man who stood ready to fight a duel, if he thought the circumstances required it, of an impetuous nature and impatient of all restraint, yet clearly announcing the supremacy of the law."

Closing his address, Mr. Coolidge said, in predicting the statement that Jackson had triumphed over opponents who were considered then, and rank now, among the outstanding statesmen of his day:

"History accords him one of the high positions among the great names of our country. He gave to the nationalist spirit through loyalty to the union a new strength which was decisive for many years."

His management of our foreign affairs was such as to secure a wholesome respect for our government and the rights of its citizens. He left the treasury without obligations and with a surplus. Coming up from the people, he demonstrated that there is sufficient substance in self-government to solve important public questions and rise superior to a perplexing crisis.

"Like a true pioneer, he broke through all the restraints and impediments into which he was born and leaving behind the provincialisms and prejudices of his day,

STRUGGLE OVER BLACKLIST SEEN AT D. A. R. MEET

In the race for the seven posts and a spirited contest is forecast.

The candidates are Mrs. H. Eugene Chubbuck, Illinois; Mrs. Henry V. Joy, Michigan; Mrs. W. H. Conway, West Virginia; Mrs. Daniel M. Garrison, Maryland; Mrs. Brooke White Jr., Florida; Mrs. Rhett Goode, Florida; Mrs. William Painter, Missouri; Mrs. James Garvin, Indiana; Mrs. Charles B. Jones, Texas, and Mrs. W. H. Munger, Iowa.

During the week of the convention many large social events will take place. Two of the outstanding functions will be teas given to the delegates by Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and Mrs. David Reed, wife of Senator Reed, Pennsylvania.

Today will be utilized in greeting addresses and the annual address of the president general to delegates. Tuesday a pilgrimage will be made to Mt. Vernon, where delegates will place a wreath on the sarcophagi of George and Martha Washington.

Wednesday and Thursday meetings are expected to be surcharged with excitement provided exponents of Mrs. Baile's ideals can obtain recognition from the chair.

Wednesday the congress will discuss legislation pending in congress. This subject may open the field for criticism on the organization's stand on the navy bill.

National defense subjects will be discussed Thursday, another phase of Mrs. Baile's attack. Both of these subjects allow opportunity for proponents of disarmament to take exception to the stand of their officers for increased armament for national defense.

soon after the government had finally rested its case. On opening of court, Justice Bailey said the government could not introduce testimony of E. L. Doherty Jr., that he had carried $100,000 from his father, to Fall prior to the naval oil lease transactions. The government was permitted, however, to present two witnesses to show that Fall had received $25,000 bonds as fees from Harry F. Sinclair, in 1923, after Fall and Sinclair had completed an unsuccessful hunt for oil concessions in Russia. These two witnesses completed the prosecution's case.

Later, however, Justice Bailey allowed the model of Teapot Dome to be brought back into court, to be used for illustrating the field but not to be admitted as evidence.

Wilson Heads Made Salt Creek Lease, Charge

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The Wilson administration leased the whole of the rich Salt Creek, Wyo., oil fields over the protest of Assistant Attorney Robert C. Bell, who warned the interior department that applications for leases were fraudulent, Senator Robinson, of Indiana, charged in the senate today.

Robinson submitted the Bell report which charged that the Midwest Refining company was masquerading behind a group of subsidiaries to get leases to the land. The report was dated Jan. 13, 1921.

"I am informed that between that time and expiration of the Democratic administration March 4, 1921, the whole of this richest oil land in the world passed out of the control of the United States," Robinson stated.

CITY WORKERS PLAN DAY AT FOREST HOME

City employees and their families will go to Forest Home on Sunday for a day's outing, it was announced today by E. B. Collier, city manager. Details of the picnic are in the hands of competent committees of the City Employees club, and members are looking forward to an enjoyable outing.

Barbecued beef, frijoles, baked corn and potatoes compose part of the menu for the midday meal to be served cafeteria style. Individuals will have to provide only equipment necessary to proper handling of the foods.

To Harry Southworth has been entrusted preparation of the barbecued meat. According to employees of the city he is proficient in the art.

It is expected that some of those charged with preparation of the meal will go to the mountain resort Saturday afternoon, for dinner is scheduled to be served at 11:30 o'clock. Clyde Jenken, city engineer, pointed out that as every one in the party is expected to be at the city park at Forest Home by 9:30 a. m., it would be

NEW CHANDLER STORE OPENED TO THOUSANDS

Following a "flood of human beings" through its furniture emporium Saturday afternoon and evening, Chandler's today had assumed normalcy, and the bright and beautiful furniture that was viewed by thousands reposed in quietude in expectation of scores returning for a more minute investigation and later purchase of pieces that will play their part in the adornment of Santa Ana homes.

According to Ray Chandler, proprietor, and James N. Harding, manager, more than 3500 persons passed through the aisles on the three floors filled with the very latest in the manufacture of household furniture, the greatest inflow of persons interested in viewing the big assortment coming in the evening hours.

With three searchlights throwing floods of light on the exterior of the building, and within an interior lighting system said to be second to none in the southland, shedding rays of bright light on exhibits in all the departments, Chandler's indeed was the "bright spot" in Santa Ana Saturday evening.

Friends and patrons exhausted their adjectives in expressing their admiration of the grand display and the management and staff were showered with congratulations upon the extent and beauty of the offerings submitted for inspection.

The display of oriental rugs was one of the exhibits that excited the admiration of all, the richness of the pieces shown being outstanding. The exhibit was selected from a carload of Oriental goods that arrived in Los Angeles only Thursday of last week, with Harding having first choice of the shipment.

During the afternoon and evening a stringed orchestra played catchy and lively airs, adding to the pleasure of those who called to congratulate the management.

Long-stemmed flowers were passed to the women while cigars were given to members of the stronger sex who enjoy the weed.

"We were highly pleased with the interest in our new store evidenced by scores who visited during the afternoon and evening, for it was a testimonial to our reputation as a house dispensing quality goods and rendering a service that is appreciated by patrons," Chandler said, in commenting upon the formal opening of the remodelled and enlarged store.

Fifty-seven baskets and bouquets of flowers sent by local business firms and wholesalers from afar dotted the display windows and interior of the building.

Harlow was one of the speakers Saturday afternoon, when he discussed business conditions on the Pacific coast. The local man told his auditors that business in California was better than in the northern part of the state and than in any other portion of the Pacific northwest.

THREE GRANTED JAIL RELEASE BY BOARD HERE

Three erstwhile prisoners had been granted their liberty today and 23 others, who had applied for release, had been retained in the county jail here as a result of action taken by the parole board.

District Attorney Z. B. West Jr., chairman of the body, announced the action today.

Douglas Brown, 17, a sailor from the San Diego Naval base, was paroled in charge of Chief of Police, R. Choat, Huntington Beach, who will return him to his station. Brown had served 15 days of a 100-day sentence for failure to appear on a traffic charge.

In releasing him, West said the board considered a recommendation for leniency from his commanding officer, who stated that he has a possible chance to take the examination for entering the Annapolis Naval academy, and that clemency would give him just the chance he needs at this time to make good. If Brown had been absent for more than 30 days, he would have been discharged automatically from the navy, it was said.

After serving eight months of a 500-day term, Teresa Munoz was paroled with instructions to report every month to Leroy Warren, probation officer. Munoz had been in jail for possession of liquor. Good behavior in his case, as well as in the others was a factor in the board's decision to parole him. Action was taken after the judge who had committed him had advised his release.

Calvin Stewart, who had completed 20 days of a 30-day stretch given him for disturbing the peace, was released on his promise to return to his father's ranch near Elnora. It was reported that the elder Stewart is ill and needs the support of his son. City Recorder John F. Talbot, who sentenced him, recommended the action.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

The board is composed of West, Sheriff Sam Jernigan, Claude Rogers, chief of police, with Leroy Warren, probation officer, who acts in an advisory capacity. Miss Ruth Robertson, of the District attorney's office, is secretary.

Police News

Carpenter tools valued at $200, together with a tool chest and three saws were stolen last night from the garage at the home of H. R. Boyd, 1621 West Fifteenth street, according to a report filed with the city police.

Two strangers were seen by neighbors to leave the garage with a box in their arms, police learned. The men left in an automobile they had parked at the curb.

Entrance into the garage was made after a lock had been broken on the door, it was reported.

Four sets of harness were reported stolen from the barn of Frank Mizusaka, one half mile west on the Katella road, last night, according to a report filed with the sheriff's office today.

Tracks found by officers indicate that four men stole the harness, it was reported.

SOVIET STATE BANK ABSORBS BRANCH HOUSES

By EUGENE LYONS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
MOSCOW, April 16.—The tendency to merge banks, observed in the United States and elsewhere, is also asserting itself in the Soviet union.

One of the principal Soviet financial institutions, the Commercial and Industrial Bank of U. S. S. R.—known as "Prombank"—is in the process of liquidation. Most of its 34 branches, including the largest in Leningrad, already have been dissolved. What will remain of the "Prombank" will be merely a long-term credit department under the direction of the Soviet State bank, known as the "Gosbank."

The Soviet bank, best known to business men abroad as the Bank of Foreign Trade, is also undergoing a process of restriction which is apparently the first step towards placing it under the direct control of the "Gosbank."

Eczema of the Scalp

With a Tendency to Scaliness and Dandruff

Results in 7 Days

This wonderful surgeon's prescription now known all over America as Moore's Emerald Oil, is so efficient in the treatment of skin diseases that the itching of eczema often stops with one application.

A few applications and the most persistent cases of Eczema often are healed never to return.

Moore's Emerald Oil is safe and pleasant to use and it is so powerfully antiseptic and deodorant that even odors arising from ulcers, gangrene and cancer are instantly killed. Moore's Emerald Oil in the original bottle is dispensed by pharmacists. Santa Ana Drug Co. and C. S. Kelley always has Moore's Emerald Oil on hand.—Adv.

The United Press understands that several of its branches already have been shut down, and that eventually it will function as a foreign trade department of the State bank.

Such mergers, however, do not have the significance here which corresponding mergers have in the rest of the world. The Soviet banking system is highly centralized. The mergers bring under one roof departments of banking previously under separate management but a single control.

The immediate effects are a saving in overhead costs. Of some 1600 people employed by "Prombank" a year ago, only about 100 will remain when the liquidation process is completed. More than two-thirds of the employees of the Bank of Foreign Trade also will be released.

The Soviet banking structure, with the State bank at its base, is much more extensive than is generally supposed abroad, where the Russians are often asked whether there are such things as banks in the Soviet union at all. Resting on the State bank is a series of 418 special banks and credit associations and their 353 branches. In addition, there are 556 "agencies of the treasury," working through the State bank, and a network of Savings banks covering the entire country.

The State bank has indirect supervision over all these banks. It is represented on their management boards and in their capital, and may investigate their conduct at any time. The State bank, moreover, conducts the operations in connection with the government budget, which in the Soviet union means the major part of the country's economic life. It helps gather, and then helps distribute, all the funds of the treasury.

The great interest of the Soviet regime in electrifying the country—one of Lenin's fundamental objectives—is evidenced by the existence of a special institution to finance electrification projects, the "Electrobank."

The co-operative organizations have two banks with about 75 branches to finance their activities. There are nearly 200 banks and branches especially devoted to municipal projects, such as house-building, street-paving, etc. There are also a great many banks serving the special credit needs of the farming population.

DR. J. P. BOYD IS PRESENTED NEW AUTO BY FRIENDS AFTER 40 YEARS OF PRACTICE HERE

Standing beside a new Buick sedan at the County park Saturday afternoon, Dr. J. P. Boyd stoutly declared that the automobile was not his. "But it has your name in it," insisted James S. Rice and James Irvine, who with no less than 200 others had gathered at the park to celebrate the completion of 40 years of medical practice by Dr. Boyd in Santa Ana and Tustin.

"Those of us who are here and others of your friends who could not be here are presenting you this automobile," continued Rice, "in appreciation of your long and faithful service to humanity."

Not till then did it dawn upon Dr. Boyd that the new automobile was his.

Dr. Boyd came to Santa Ana in 1888 from Virginia, where he had been in the practice of his profession for nine years. Arriving here he established an office at the Wintersburg Methodist church. Mrs. Bertha Hurt and Mrs. Mary Doyle, of this place, were on the hostess committee at the Mooseheart card party held in Huntington Beach Wednesday evening and were others attending from here were Mrs. W. P. Teece, Mrs. Robert Jenkins, Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. M. C. Hazard, who is supervisor of the Junior Mooseheart society of Southern California, will next Monday evening take the juniors and the Mooseheart drill team to San Pedro, where a junior lodge will be established, the fourth in the state.

The Willing Workers' club was entertained Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Frank Ingersoll, where the members met to quilt for the day. Twenty-two women were present. The next meeting, which is scheduled for the second Wednesday in May, will be held with Mrs. George Hickman, present at this week's meeting were Mrs. Gertrude Pysden, Mrs. Mark Hodgins, Mrs. Mills Cowling, Mrs. Harriette Dowty, Mrs. Stella Framsworth, Mrs. Alex Cameron, Mrs. Gould, Mrs. Frank Lantz, Miss Gould, Mrs. M. ## ARTISTS AND BUSINESS MEN OF SANTA ANA GIVE SUPPORT TO PLANS FOR MUSIC WEEK Encouraged by the support being given to preparations for Santa Ana's second annual music week by artists and business men, here, Harry Hanson, chairman of the committee in charge, predicted today an even greater success for the event this year than was enjoyed last.

The affair resulted in the city's accomplishments being broadcast throughout the country, he said, and anticipated that the same outside interest would be manifested again when the music festival is repeated.

The decoration of the high school auditorium, in which the activities will take place, is expected to be one of the outstanding features of the week. It was learned at a recent meeting of the committee in Ketter's cafe, Miss Hazel Bemus, art supervisor in the Santa Ana schools, announced plans at the gathering for using greenery and flowers in decorating the stage and entrances for the occasion.

Community singing is to be another phase of the music week observance which will be stressed, according to Hanson, and all Santa Ana will be invited to join in song on each night of the series. Prominent leaders of group singing from several Southern California points will assist in arousing enthusiasm in the audiences and in leading them.

Arthur Lyons, head of the music department of the Pasadena schools, will direct this activity on the night of May 7, while Glenn Tendall, playground supervisor of Los Angeles, will be in charge on May 11. It was announced. The opening event of the week

MRS. NEAL BEISEL IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF COUNTY P. T. A. AT MEETING IN BUENA PARK

By MRS. NEAL BEISEL
(Press Chairman, Fourth District)

The provision of an education beyond the high school, for the masses, is the mission of the junior college in any community, according to Dean W. T. Boyce, of the Fullerton Junior college, who spoke at the annual convention of the Fourth district, Congress of Parents and Teachers, held in Buena Park Saturday.

The junior college is designed to provide a broadened curriculum which shall include fields of knowledge useful to the local community and work suited to a variety of mental abilities. It prolongs the residence of the student in the community, and the home, thereby enriching the civic life. A high standard is held for the work given in the college, yet a more sympathetic and kindly environment is provided for the student than is possible in the larger institutions. There are more adults enrolled in educational work today than in all the student registrations at various institutions. The junior college offers these adults the opportunity they desire for pursuing vocational and industrial studies.

The greatest problem facing the junior college in a community, is the manner in which it shall be housed. The consensus of opinion among educators seem to be in favor of housing the junior college in a plant entirely separate from that of the high school, thus providing an atmosphere of dignity which attracts students to the institution. Several small communities may very well unite to provide this separate plant, giving increased financial resources, than are possible in a smaller college. Regional jealousy in the location of the site for a union junior college should be eliminated entirely, and the best interests of the students be the only consideration. Dean Boyce appealed to the Parent-Teacher associations as the persons most vitally interested in child welfare, to permit no community interests to take precedence over the interests of childhood.

Edwin Price, state chairman of social standards, speaking on the work of his department, urged parents to pursue a systematic study of childhood and modern conditions, in order to be able to give wise assistance to their children who are making their first social adjustments. Youth has always craved freedom, but never had the courage to demand it until their present generation. Independence is the keynote of youth today. Many will be scarred in learning how to use this freedom, but eventually the proper adjustment will come. The greatest obstacle to understanding between parents and children today, is that the parents made their first social adjustments in an atmosphere of comparative poverty, while today adjustments must be made to conditions of comparative wealth. Parents must educate themselves before they can lead their children.

The afternoon session was given over to a most interesting demonstration of the possibilities of good and bad films in making permanent impressions upon the plastic mind of a child. Mrs. Ercel McAteer, state chairman of motion pictures, presented the topic most vividly and stressed the fact that parents consider the physical well-being of the child highly important, yet wholly neglect the guidance of the impressionistic nature.

Officers for the ensuing two years were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Neal Beisel, Santa Ana; second vice president, Mrs. Fay Spangler; recording secretary, Mrs. A. C. Pickering, Yorba Linda; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. L. Benson, Anaheim; financial secretary, Mrs. Wm. L. Holve, Fullerton; auditor, Mrs. Chas. Schweinfest, Anaheim.

These officers will assume their duties at the executive board meeting which will be held in Huntington Beach on June 12.

Mrs. Mary Robertson, chairman of the press committee of the City Council of Parent-Teacher associations, today pointed out that Mrs. Beisel has been active in parent-teacher association work in the city and county for many years, and that the compliment paid her by the congress was richly deserved.

She was president of the Julia Lathrop association from 1923 to 1926, and for the past year has been first vice president of the city council, and press chairman of the fourth district for the past year. In this position she has been outstanding as a correspondent and has supplied the press with complete details of actions by the fourth district. It was pointed out by Mrs. Robertson.

Mrs. Beisel is a graduate of the Santa Ana high school and this year will graduate from the junior college, having resumed her pursuit of an education many years after leaving school and after she had virtually completed the task of raising a family.

SAFE CRACKER SLAIN IN BEACH BALLROOM

LONG BEACH, Calif., April 16.—One man was shot to death and another seriously wounded as three bandits, seeking $12,000 in the safe of the Cindrella ballroom, on the Long Beach pike, walked into a police trap last night.

Earl C. Davis, alias Smith, died with 10 buckshot and one pistol wound in his body, Richard Phillips, alias Frank Wells, was probably fatally wounded by five buckshot and two pistol wounds and an unidentified man fled to safety.

An informer's tip resulted in authorities planting a squad in the dance hall. The gun play followed when the bandits elected to "shoot it out" instead of complying with the demand to surrender.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Wall Street Journal Financial Review
NEW YORK, April 16.—After stocks had been nervously declining through most of the session, a bullish influence in the form of lower call money steadied the list and sharp gains went ahead in various sections today.

While the main body of industrials was resting, utilities made wide gains in active demand. Oils encountered substantial buying. Chrysler featured the motor shares, rising to a new high while Electric Automobile was a strong point in the accessory group.

Strong utilities included American Can and Foreign Power, Standard Gas and Columbia Power, North American, Consolidated Gas and Electric Power and Light, American Republics led the oils with a gain of more than two points.

General Motors recovered part of its early losses, while U. S. Steel eased two points. Radio recovered all of a five-point decline.

AUXILIARY OF SPANISH VETS HOLDS MEETING

Calumet auxiliary, No. 39, United Spanish War Veterans, held its monthly social meeting Friday night preceded by a "covered dish" dinner.

Members of the local camp of Sons of Civil War Veterans and the local tent of Daughter of Civil War Veterans were guests.

Past Commander H. G. Miller acted as master of ceremonies. The program included oration, "The Living Constitution," by Thomas Kuckel, of Anaheim; instrumental selections by the Hoffer Trio, of Orange; vocal solos by Fred Wilde of Santa Ana; reading by Norma Tantlinger of Tustin; instrumental selections by the Hoffer quartette; address by Commander Cleveland of Sedgwick Post, G. A. R.; address by Past Department Commander Parker of the Sons of Veterans; address by the president of the Daughters of Veterans, Mrs. Edith Moore; music by the Hoffer trio; and a report by Department Commander Charles E. Dixon, of the U. S. W. V., who had just returned from a week's trip to Northern California, where he instituted five new Camps of U. S. W. V. and started the organization of five new auxiliaries.

The auxiliary committee in charge of the dinner consisted of Grace Deck assisted by Adelle Anderson, Margaret Donovan, Bess Moberly and Jean Tantlinger.

Calumet auxiliary is planning to have a booth at the Boy Scout jamboree, the proceeds of which are to go to the Boy Scout fund.

The Auxiliary drill team, under the captaincy of Mrs. May Glaze captured first prize in competition at Santa Cruz last May are getting ready under the same management to go to the department encampment at San Diego next May and try to win first prize again.

FIRECRACKERS ARE THROWN ON PORCH

Mrs. J. M. Stratton, 630 North Van Ness street, complained to police Saturday night that someone was throwing giant firecrackers on her front porch and on the porches of the neighbors.

An investigation was made by officers and a search made for those celebrating the Fourth of July prematurely, but no arrests were made.

CHARGED WITH DRIVING AUTO WHILE DRUNK

Charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, Carlos Carros, 23, Westminster, was arrested by City Motorcycle Officer Lentz, early last night and locked up in the county jail.

Today in police court he will face a charge of reckless driving. It was said. The officer declared that Carros was driving from one side of the road to the other in heavy traffic.

Carros said he had been drinking cider. He didn't know, he said, how much he had drunk, but "about two or three hours," he declared.

Three Mexican youths found in the machine with him at the time of arrest were freed after being taken to the police station. They admitted drinking a little cider, but none of them was intoxicated.

SECOND SUIT IS FILED HERE BY L. A. BANK

The Security Trust and Savings bank, of Los Angeles, and the Security Bank and Trust company, with head offices at Bakersfield, have not buried the hatchet. It was learned today.

The former institution has instituted a suit to prevent the latter from using its present name on the ground that it is so similar to its own that the public will be misled.

The Bakersfield institution, following a reported union with the Humboldt bank, has applied for a change of name, but the shift makes matters worse, according to an amended complaint filed by the Los Angeles organization, which has countered with a demand for judgment against the defendant for the total amount of its profits made in California.

Far from oiling the wheels of harmony, the reported transformation will lead the world to conjecture that the rival banks have forgotten their controversy and have united, the new complaint stated. It asks an injunction to prevent the Superior court of San Francisco from legalizing the change.

The defendant bank has pre-fixed its former name with the word United and has emerged as the United Security Bank and Trust company, the complaint said.

Harold Ryerson Joins New Firm

Harold S. Ryerson, former executive vice president of the Conservation Association of Southern California, has become identified with the Johnston-Webb corporation of Los Angeles, as public relations advertising counsel, it was announced here today.

Ryerson has represented Southern California interests in Washington, D. C., and Sacramento and elsewhere on behalf of forest protection and water conservation, having been in this service for four and a half years. It was pointed out by a representative of the corporation, who added that Ryerson's connection places the Johnston-Webb corporation in position to undertake important civic business enterprises with the assurance of expert administration and accomplishment.

SANTA ANA TAKES THIRD IN LEAGUE MEET

Spring Football Practice Begun At High School

FIFTY CANDIDATES, INCLUDING MANY SOPHOMORES, REPORT TO COACH FOR INITIAL WORKOUT

Records for all time were shattered here today when more than 50 ambitious candidates reported to Coach "Tex" Oliver at the first spring football practice of the season at Santa Ana high school. The turnout was the largest in the history of the local institution. Twenty-five sophomores, all with three years of competition in front of them, were among the prospective gridders who climbed into the mole skins and even more recruits are expected tomorrow and Wednesday.

Oliver, still busy with his work on the cinderpath, will assume personal charge of the spring practice, nevertheless. In this way he hopes to obtain a line on the prospective members of the Saint gridiron machine, vintage of 1928.

Prospects for the coming season were particularly bright at the close of the 1927 campaign as Oliver expected to hold over a line almost intact but developments of the past few weeks have cut deep-

U. S. INVASION OF EUROPE ON STARS TO SAIL

By GEORGE KIRKSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 16.—America's invasion of Europe and the British Isles technically begins this week when Walter Hagen, the swashbuckler of the links, and Helen Wills, the queen of the courts, leave for foreign shores.

"The Hags" and Miss Wills form the vanguard of this nation's sport army which will undertake this summer the most pretentious foreign campaign since the war.

The three big events of the amateur sport world—the Olympic Games, the Wightman cup matches and the Davis cup final—will take place on the continent this summer and the United States has high hopes of making a clean sweep.

The United States will send 263 athletes to the ninth Olympiad at Amsterdam in July and August and prospects are favorable for another American triumph.

Led by Helen Wills, the United States should retain possession of the Wightman cup in the annual match with England. Miss Wills' teammates probably will be Miss Penelope Anderson of Richmond, Va.; Miss Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, Calif., and Mrs. A. H. Chapin Jr., of Springfield, Mass., or Miss Eleanor Goss, New York.

Hagen and Miss Wills sail for Europe on the Aquitania Wednesday night. Miss Wills will be accompanied by her mother and Miss Penelope Anderson, the seventh ranking women's player, who will join Helen in the doubles.

Hagen will compete in the British Open golf championship at Sandwich and will engage in special matches with Archie Compston and Aubrey Boomer in England and France.

VAN DIEN WINS MATCH PLAY AT COUNTRY CLUB

President H. B. Van Dien, finishing one down to par won the Class A match play against par at the Santa Ana Country club Saturday. He outdistanced a field of 20 competitors.

Van Dien was trailed by F. E. Farnsworth and E. B. Van Meter, who tied for second, and J. K. McDonald, E. T. Mateer and R. O. Winkler, who were deadlocked for fourth. Farnsworth and Van Meter were three down and the other prize-winners six down.

J. J. Harrison and Mayor Frank Purinton tied for honors in Class B. They were both one down. Dr. W. C. Dubois, E. C. D. Pettitt, M. B. Wellington and S. R. Bowen tied for third, all three down.

Medal play yesterday went to E. C. D. Pettitt, with his 92-22-70. J. K. McDonald shot 81-9-72 to be second. Dr. W. C. Dubois and E. T. Mateer tied for third, Dubois bringing in a card of 90-16-74 and Mateer one with the figures reading 86-12-74.

Sunday's mixed foursomes attracted a goodly number of players to the local course. Mrs. C. V. Doty and M. B. Lacy won low gross with 90. Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Harlow had low net, 102-24-78 and Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Mateer second net, 108-29-73.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE PENNANT RACE ON

With a figurative blare of trumpets and the customary first ball pitching ceremonies by civic dignitaries, including Mayor Frank L. Purinton, City Marshal Claude Rogers and City Manager E. B. Collier, the second annual season of the Santa Ana Twilight league was to be officially opened late today at Lincoln field.

Eight teams—Kiwanis club, Santa Ana Register, Smart and Final, City Hall, Courthouse, Shell Oil company, American Legion Bugle and Drum corps and the Auto Club of Orange County hold franchises in the circuit. Games will be played Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoon at 6 o'clock.

The Smart and Final team was to play the Legion Bugle corps today. The Kiwanis club will meet the Auto Club of Orange County tomorrow.

Davis Cup Squad Will Play In L. A.

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—The United States Davis cup team players will arrive here tomorrow for exhibition matches against the California Stars at the Los Angeles Tennis club Saturday and Sunday. On the team are Bill Tilden, John Hennessey, Arnold Jones and Wilmer Allison.

BILLY EVANS REMINISCES OF METHODS UMPIRE TIM HURST ADOPTED TO SHORTEN GAMES

By BILLY EVANS

President Barnard of the American league has pledged himself to the speeding up of the ball games in the junior organization.

For several years the American league has suffered in comparison with the National in this feature of play, due to the fact that any number of tedious delays have been allowed to creep into the playing of the game.

When the American League made its fight against the National for recognition, snappily-played games dominated the circuit and no one thing helped more to make the National finally sue for peace.

Hurst Kids Johnson Ban Johnson, former head of the American league, until late years constantly stressed the value of action. In this connection I always recall a story that had Tim Hurst as its central figure.

Some years ago, due to the fact that a great many pitchers were using the spitball delivery and the rest faking it in order to get the psychological advantage, American league games dragged. President Johnson's pride was hurt. He wrote his umpires for suggestions as to how the games could be shortened as to playing time. All the umpires responded with logical arguments, such as the abolition of the spitball and the like. Tim Hurst, the court jester of the staff, treated the matter humorously. His reply read something like this:

"If you are really in earnest about shortening the games, Ban, why not try seven innings?"

Will Eliminate Delays American league umpires already have been notified to eliminate all avenues of delay. Constant stepping out of the batter's box on the slightest pretext will be taboo. No longer will the entire infield be allowed to gather around the pitcher in a huddle. Outfielders, who insist on coming into the plate to argue a ruling, are sure to get into trouble.

After all, there is nothing quite so irritating to the average fan as to have the game delayed while an outfielder leaves his position and comes perhaps 100 yards to argue a play and after it is over usually takes plenty of time before he resumes his position.

This is a rather embarrassing situation for an umpire when the manager happens to be an outfielder. Major league clubs pay big sums to playing managers, who aside from performing in the field must also direct the play of the team. Desirous of being fair, the umpire often finds the manager taking undue liberties with his leniency, that tend to make a farce of the game because of the constant delays.

Outfield Managers Troublesome At one time the American league had a number of managers in the outfield, the most recent being those two outstanding stars, Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker. No doubt many of the fans will recall how the outfield managers used to have a path worn from their position to the plate. Which recalls another story, having Tim Hurst again as its author.

There never was a manager who did more marathons from the outfield to the plate than Fielder Jones as manager of the Chicago White Sox.

One day after he had made several round trips at the expense of Tim Hurst, the umpire went out to meet him as he started for the plate a third time.

Realizes Trouble Brewing Jones, realizing trouble was brewing and that Hurst would probably put him out of the game at the slightest pretext, veered off in the direction of the shortstop, engaged that player in conversation and then started to retrace his steps to center field. Hurst standing in the center of the diamond, yelled:

"You're going the wrong way. Keep on to the clubhouse."

"You haven't put me out of the game," asked Jones.

"Sure enough," replied Hurst.

"Why, I haven't said a word, nor done a thing to get you out of the game," remonstrated Jones.

"It's not for anything you said but for what you are thinking about me," responded Hurst and the decision stood.

CUPID DOWNS STUHLBREHER

Only a few years ago Harry Stuhldreher was calling signals and leading the Four Horsemen to sensational victories on the gridiron. He seldom was thrown for any losses in his plans. Since graduation "Studie" has been coaching football at Villanova College and playing with the society folks in Philadelphia, and now he's been thrown for a loss by Dan Cupid and will marry Miss Mary Agnes McEnery in June. Other members of the Notre Dame backfield of 1924 are expected to be in his wedding party.

THE STORY OF TOM HEENEY

Here's the first of an unusually interesting and timely series of six articles—the story of Tom Heenev, the rugged New Zealander who is matched with Gene Tunney for a heavyweight championship fight in July, and Charley Harvey, Heenev's manager.

The author of this series is Henry L. Farrell, NEA Service sports writer and one of the most experienced observers of fights and fighters.

The story of Heenev and Harvey is the story of a fighter who, broke and discouraged and anxious to get home placed himself in the hands of an old-timer looking for a "break" and eventually reached the point of challenger to the champion. It is timely and reads like fiction.

Under the tough, crocodile hide of the boxing racket, you may have heard it said, there beats a big, soft heart. Like the wolves of the malignant Broadway, with fangs pictured always bared for the kill, the racket is not that way, they say.

There are examples where the sporting element of Broadway has extended helping hands to those of its members in need of a lift. Many of them. But there are other stories where the hand was raised to sock or to pull down a man just getting a break.

When Charley Harvey set out to get some matches for Tom Heenev, a big boyish-like New Zealander, who wanted only money enough to get back home, he had the well wishes of all the mob in the racket.

They had been wanting to see Harvey get a break because he needed it. He was a square fellow. They knew that but they criticized him for it. Their logic was that a guy was a sucker to be so much on the level. They sympathized with the misfortune that nearly cost him his life in a Chicago automobile wreck, an accident that made of him a cripple and almost a physical wreck. They were for him as long as he wasn't getting along too well.

Harvey Too Clean Harvey is one of the finest personalities you would care to meet. A polished little gentleman. A square-shooter. A clean-mouthed man whose extremity of profanity is "by jimmie" or "crist." A man whose words are those of an evangelist. Almost too good for the racket, as his friends told him. "You'll never get along in that business. You're too clean," they told him. But Harvey limped along strengthened by the faith that his break had to come.

The boxing racket is sometimes shown in rosy pictures. Pretty soft for a manager cutting in for a big end of the money his man gets for fighting. But no one knows the hardships of the path from promoter to promoter with fighter who is not established until he has tried it.

Harvey went the rounds, day by day, but no promoter would give him heavyweights had a low rating. Harvey had suffered rating also from his long association with bum fighters. They were glad to see Charley but they couldn't do anything for him.

Heenev Gets Match Then Harvey finally got Heenev a match with Charlie Anderson, a ham colored fighter, and Heenev stopped him in five rounds. He didn't crash into the first pages but he attracted some attention in the racket. He was a "jimmie" fighter who wasn't knocked out. He looked like a prospect.

Heenev had enough to live on for a while after that fight but the same old dodge came when he tried to get some more matches. Then the kind wolves started after him.

"Get away from Harvey," they told him. "He's an old grandpa. You got to do business to get

LONG BEACH IS FIRST: LOCALS QUALIFY NINE

Placing in every event on the program except two and qualifying nine athletes, in addition to the relay team, for the Southern California Interscholastic trials next Saturday, Santa Ana high school's well balanced track squad finished an impressive third in the fifth annual Coast Preparatory league meet at Long Beach last Saturday.

Santa Ana registered 27 points as against 38½ by Long Beach, the winner, and 37 by Glendale, the runner-up. San Diego made 21, Pasadena 14½ and Alhambra 5. South Pasadena and Whittier did not score.

Coach "Tex" Oliver's Saints not only furnished the thrill of the day by threatening to overtake both Long Beach and Glendale, something that might have happened had not some of the Texan's plans gone awry, but they actually turned the tide of victory to Long Beach and were really responsible for the dethroning of last season's Southern California and State champions.

Jacques Wins High Jump Art Jacques, unsung and almost unheard of outside of Santa Ana before the meet, licked the Dynamiters when he won the high jump from Moodie, the Glendale ace, at 5 feet, 10 inches. Glendale had counted Moodie's first place in the bag and when the slim Santa Ana out-jumped him and took the lone first place awarded a local athlete, he detracted just enough from the ultimate Dynamiter total to give Long Beach victory.

Suffering from a badly twisted ankle in the early days of the campaign, Jacques just hit his stride in the past few weeks. He cleared 5:10 by actual measurement at the preliminaries last Wednesday and duplicated this feat Saturday for his gold medal.

The 27 Saint counters were distributed as follows: Ernie Velarde, 6; Art Jacques, 5; Alvin Reboin and "Reg" Rust, 4; Tommy Cone and Jim Musick, 2; relay team, 2; Joe Warner and John Moffat, 1.

Points Well Distributed Oliver's disciples made points in every event except the mile and the pole vault and even in the mile Tom Donohue was beaten for fourth place only by a stride after he had raced in a forwardly position throughout. The Saints scored 14 in the track events and 13 in the field events.

SANTA ANA NEWS THIRD IN MEET AT LONG BEACH

Velarde was second in the 220 yard low hurdles, third in the broad jump and fourth in the 100. He also ran a bang-up last lap on the local relay team which placed third.

The broad jump is Velarde's strong suit and he performed admirably in it but was forced to take third after Frank Wykoff, the marvelous Glendale athlete, and Dick Barber, Long Beach, had come through with phenomenal hops. Wykoff set a new league record at 23 feet, 1 inch. Velarde bettered 22 feet on four occasions, good enough to win the average prep school or small college meet with ease.

Moffat Off Form
Still weak from an illness which has depleted his strength for weeks, Captain Johnny Moffat, doped to place well up in the hurdles and the high jump, was able to make put a single point, which he obtained in the low barriers. He was out of his marks last in the high sticks, finishing with a rush to get fifth but in the low sticks he was outrun all of the way by Bills, the victor, and Velarde and Reboin, his teammates. Reboin, a sophomore, turned in a fine race in the high hurdles to be third, hardly a yard behind the winner, Bills, and inches to the rear of Ellowitz, Pasadena, who was given second.

Tommy Cone gave Santa Ana a start when he finished gamely to be third in the 880, a race in which Jones, San Diego, established a new league record of 2:01.5. Cone ran 2:04. Carl Schoeneberg, another Saint, was fifth in 2:06. Joe Warner had enough finish left to be fourth in the 440, a driving race in which three contestants "blew up" less than five yards from the tape.

Rust, Musick Shine
Poly's two "beeg, strong fellers," Rust and Musick, accounted for the other digits. Rust put the shot 44 feet, 1 1/4 inches to be fourth and hurled the discus 119 feet for a second. He was leading in the discus until Beatty, of Glendale, came up for his last whirl and made 121 feet, 1 1/4 inches. Musick, right behind Rust with 135 feet, 5 inches, took third.

Another Santa Ana, Melvin Beatty, qualified for the All-Southern preliminaries by taking fourth in the javelin, an event in which points were not counted. His best throw, 137 feet, 2 inches, will let him participate in the meet next Saturday where points will count.

Miss Wills will be a heavy favorite to win all tournaments in which she starts abroad. In one of her last practice matches in California, she defeated Phil Neer, one of the ranking coast players.

MACK, MARENO HEADLINE NEW CARD AT DELHI

Benny Mack and Al Mareno, a couple of rough and ready lightweights, will headline Wednesday night's boxing program at the Delhi Amateur Athletic club, Promoter Boyd Ellis announced today.

Ernie Owens, the Pacific Coast's most promising heavyweight outside of Armand Emanuel, will referee the final bout, Owens having three of his proteges on the card.

Mack registers from the South Park Athletic club in Los Angeles and Mareno picked up his knowledge of give and take at Huntington Park. Mack has one appearance at Delhi on the record books, when he busted Jim Rivers, the fistic phenom from Fullerton, squarely between the eyes for a decision. Mareno, on the other hand, is a total stranger hereabouts.

Jimmie Rivers and Cliff Anway, welterweights, will occupy the semi-windup spot. Rivers, of course, is well known to local fandom for he has been a regular performer at the Delhi "barn" for two months but Anway is a newcomer with only favorable press notices to recommend him.

Several weeks ago Hal Cox, Delhi's usual main eventer, thrashed a young fellow named Joe Snyder. Snyder returns to the Ellis place of business this week to meet Dave Marillo, also an erstwhile entertainer here.

Paul Gomez, Santa Ana, battles Joe Nelson in one of the three other preliminaries. Ascencio Hernandez and Charles Thorne box the second spot and Frank Deles a big boy from Delhi, makes his pugilistic debut against Louis Williams of South Park, in the curtain-raiser.

Wingard Returns To Trojan Ranks

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—Horace Wingard, husky guard who performed on Aubrey Devine's University of Southern California freshman football team in 1926, has lightened the prospects for 1928 varsity football exceedingly. Wingard, who was not in school last semester, registered for spring session work at the university and will probably be a leading candidate for the guard post held last year by Bert Heiser.

Wingard weighs 194 pounds and is fast for a man of his weight. Last season he played on the Los Angeles Prep Stars team, coached by Harold Piper.

PAPER MONEY IS MADE INTO STATUETTES

What becomes of all the old paper money?
This is a question asked day after day at banks throughout the country.
The answer is today in the windows of the First National Bank here, where more than $50,000 worth of old paper money is being displayed, but to see it, is not necessarily to believe it, for the paper money has been changed into miniature Washington monuments and replicas of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington.
The display in the window is particularly interesting due to the fact that it represents so much of what used to be money.
The green and yellow in the bills has all been washed out and the paper is left a greyish white, and is packed tight.

All paper money finds its way sooner or later to the various federal reserve banks where it is carefully scrutinized to detect counterfeit bills and those that have been raised from one denomination to another. All bills slated for cancellation are sorted according to denomination and kind and are cut the long way of the bill leaving the serial number which appears in the upper right and lower left hand corners of the bill.
The upper halves are shipped to Washington one day and the lower halves are shipped the next day. In this manner protection against loss by robbery, holdups, train wrecks is arranged for as these half bills would be of no value without the corresponding half.
After the bills have been received in Washington, they are sent to a plant in the Bureau of Engraving where under the supervision of a special committee, the trunks are opened and the contents thrown into large tanks filled with live steam acid and grinding knives that revolve.

COPY OF OLD NEWSPAPER IN SANTA ANA RECITES DETAILS OF SLAYING OF ABE LINCOLN

Just 63 years ago Saturday, April 14, 1865, the nation was shocked by the announcement that on the previous night, while attending a performance of "The American Cousin" in the Ford theater, Washington, D. C., President Lincoln had been assassinated by John Wilkes Booth, an actor in the company.

On Saturday morning, April 15, the newspapers of that day, issued extras, carrying the story of the crime, and Mrs. Mary Marston of 822 Riverine avenue, is the fortunate possessor of a copy of the New York Herald, in an excellent state of preservation.

The paper is a single sheet, bearing a black border portrait of the martyred president, and the main story has a single column head, "Important." Continuing with the "Assassination of President Lincoln. The President Shot at the Theater Last Evening. Secretary Seward Dropped in His Bed, But Not Mortally Wounded."

The story is in the form of the official dispatch issued at Washington by Edwin M. Stanton, secretary of war, addressed to Major General Dix in New York City. It reads as follows:

"This evening about 9:30 p. m., at Ford's theater, the President while sitting in his private box with Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Harris and Major Rathbun, was shot by an assassin who suddenly entered the box and approached behind the President.

"The assassin then leaped upon the stage, brandishing a large dagger or knife, and made his escape into the rear of the theater. The pistol ball entered the back of the President's head and penetrated nearly through the head. The wound is mortal.

"The President has been insensible now ever since the wound was inflicted, and is now dying."

The dispatch continued with the account of an assassin entering the Seward apartment upon the pretext of having to deliver a prescription to the room where the secretary lay ill. Rushing to the bed and inflicting several dagger stabs about Seward's face and throat, he made so much noise that Frederick Seward, son of the secretary, hastened from an adjoining room and was also attacked. The dispatch closes with the words,

"All the members of the cabinet except Mr. Seward are now in attendance upon the President. I have seen Mr. Seward, but he and Frederick were both unconscious."

One of the late bulletins from Washington, described the scene at the bedside of the stricken man. "The bed was surrounded by his cabinet ministers, all of whom were bathed in tears, not even excepting Mr. Stanton, who, when in-

TWO ARRESTED ON CHARGES OF CHECK PASSING

Co-operation between Santa Ana merchants and Santa Ana police, Saturday night, resulted in the arrest of two men, who today are in the county jail, charged with issuing fictitious checks, and with a possible charge of grand theft hanging over them, in connection with the alleged theft of an automobile.

The men are Albert W. Cheney, 23, oilworker, of Bakersfield, and R. L. Verrell, 20, 1926 Seventeenth street, Huntington Beach.

The two are alleged to have passed two checks here Saturday night, each for $27.50. One was passed at the Tugery, on East Fourth street, and one at the Miles Shoe company on West Fourth street. Both checks were said to have been in payment for merchandise bought at the stores.

Verrell was arrested at the Vandermast and Sons store on East Fourth street, by Officer Bob Elliott, who answered a call to the place after the man is ascertained to have attempted to cash another $27.50 check there. His partner, Cheney, was arrested at Sixth and Main streets, after Sid Smithwick, assistant chief of police, ran him for several blocks through the business district.

The youths are said to have had four checks on their persons for $27.50 each when they started operations here Saturday night. A Chrysler coupe, used by the men in coming to Santa Ana, was stolen in Los Angeles by Verrell on March 7, police said Verrell admitted to them after he was arrested. Officers are today checking his story against Los Angeles police records.

Neither of the men have been in trouble here before, so far as is known.

been held once a month since Christmas.

The Queen Esther's held an exchange dinner Friday evening at the Methodist church. Mrs. R. E. Downs, counselor, was in charge.

The Collier well on Eleventh and Walnut streets has been drilled to a depth of 3660 feet and is now being reamed to set casing within a day or two.

C. C. DELEGATES HEAR REPORTS AT BEACH MEET

NEWPORT BEACH, April 16.—Ways and means of expanding the Junior Chamber of Commerce in California was the main subject of discussion at the meeting of the California Junior Chamber of Commerce, held at the Southern Seas club Saturday evening. About 50 people attended, representing the various junior chambers in the state.

Encouraging reports were made by delegates from Los Angeles, Long Beach, Santa Ana, Modesto and other places, indicating that the movement for the enlisting of young men of all creeds and political divisions is going ahead rapidly.

A report on the Southwest exposition, to be held in Long Beach in July, was made by W. K. Bishop, of the junior division of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce. The exposition was endorsed and a request made that a special day be set aside for the organization.

Previous to the business meeting, the delegates and their wives were guests of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce in a boat ride over the bay.

During the dinner, the Beach Club orchestra, composed entirely of girls, played, vocal selections being offered by Miss Nellie Mai Chapman of Santa Ana. Following the dinner, dance numbers were presented by Miss Alfrid Howard and Miss Viola Evans, of Santa Ana. G. Leavitt Brown accompanied at the piano.

Carol Laughner, leader of the Concordia orchestra, pleased with piano numbers. Laughner also accompanied for Miss Lois Gould, of Santa Ana, who offered pleasing vocal numbers.

It was voted to hold the next meeting in San Francisco in June. A special letter of appreciation for the courtesies extended was voted to be sent to the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, G. C. MacLeod, secretary, and the city of Newport Beach.

After the dinner, the women were guests of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce at the new Ritz theater and later joined the men for several hours of dancing at the new Rendezvous ballroom.

OFFICERS NAMED BY MESA LEAGUE

COSTA MESA, April 16.—Epworth League members elected new officers at the church last week, as follows: Lawrence Wright, president; Alice Mellett, first vice president; Ethel Kinley, second vice president; Thelma Allen, third vice president; Margaret Seiber, fourth vice president; John Willcutt, secretary; Bill Erbe, treasurer; Martha Spaulding, pianist, and Simon Plas, councilman.

After the business meeting, games were in charge of Flora Hunter and Lee Belding.

Each couple was requested to make a May basket and prizes for the prettiest were awarded Ethel Kinley and Simon Plas and Mildred Northern and Hyatt Graham. Refreshments were served.

10,000 Volumes Issued In Month By Orange Library

ORANGE, April 16.—Circulation of books in the Orange library during March reached a high mark, according to Mrs. Mabel Faulkner, librarian. Ten thousand volumes were issued in that period.

Of the books in circulation, 2300 were issued by the young people's library.

Of the books most in demand, "Trader Horn" and "Mother India" still lead in the fiction field. "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" and "Death Comes to the Archbishop" have not yet been displaced from leading position.

S. R. BOWEN SLATED AS NEW MAYOR OF HUNTINGTON BEACH TINSLEY MAY BE FIRE CHIEF

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 16.—S. R. Bowen probably will be elected chairman of the city council at the organization meeting in the city hall tonight. After the old board has completed its brief business meeting and the new board is organized, the meeting will adjourn without further activity, it is believed.

The city campaign was conducted along conservative lines and there is very little bitterness on either side, it was pointed out today, and there will be no sweeping changes in personnel in the city hall. All that is asked of each employee is efficiency and any former political activity will not prejudice the new trustees, it was declared.

The police department apparently is functioning well and may not be molested. City Engineer Merwin Rossin is looked upon as a capable engineer and probably will be given an opportunity to reorganize his department.

Many people in the city look upon the dismissal of former Chief Tinsley as a little drastic and it is thought that a place may be given him as chief of the fire department. There is no mention of his being returned to the police department. It is reported that there will be a new city recorder and a new city attorney.

Immediately following adjournment of the council there will be a reception in Obarr hall for the new trustees, which several prominent men of the city will attend.

BANQUET ARRANGED BY NEWPORT CLUB

NEWPORT BEACH, April 16.—Exchange club members will hold their first big night meeting at the Newport Harbor Yacht club Wednesday evening and wives and sweethearts of members will be the guests of honor. Lack of accommodations for the large crowd expected caused the change in the meeting place from the Southern Seas club to the yacht club.

A special program has been arranged by a committee. It is expected that the meeting will develop into an annual affair. Eugene Tension, president of the club, will be in charge of the session. The banquet will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

At the present time there are 2000 rabbits at the Hazard and Sparks farm.

PLAYMATES

Stewart Hunter, 4, probably is wondering if Peter, two weeks old goat, is going to eat the bottle when he finishes with the milk.

Baby Goat Is Favorite of Fullerton Youngsters; Likes Daily Bottle

FULLERTON, April 16.—Peter is only a goat and just two weeks old at that, but he knows when it's eating time. He has his bottle of milk three times daily. The Rev. and Mrs. Graham Hunter, whose daughter, Irene, owns the tiny animal have not started feeding him tin cans as yet but believe that before many weeks have passed that he will be ready for tinware to augment the milk.

Peter makes an ideal pet, the Hunters have found, being as playful as a puppy. He is the favorite of all the children in the neighborhood but has shown partiality for his young owner.

The goat was given to the Hunters by a member of the Presbyterian church, of which the Rev. Mr. Hunter is pastor.

Plans had been made to form the auxiliary last Friday but because of the small attendance at the session, it was decided to hold another meeting.

Mrs. H. O. Wharton, wife of the commander of the Placentia post, has been made temporary chairman.

The meeting will be held in the evening in the chamber of commerce hall.

Engagement Announced To Friends Asked For Bridge

Bridge was interesting to a group of friends entertained Saturday afternoon by Miss Helen Bowers, but not half so enthralling as the sequel to the afternoon of cards. For Miss Bowers, who is the daughter of Mrs. Elmer Bowers, 116 East Washington avenue, announced her engagement to Arold Norton, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Norton, 301 Edgewood road. The announcement party was held at the home of Miss Bowers' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bowers of North Main street.

The announcement crowned a school romance for the young people began their friendship in Santa Ana high school days. For the past three years, both have been attending the University of California at Berkeley where Mr. Norton was a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity and Miss Bowers of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Although no date was revealed for the wedding it is expected that it will take place some time in June.

Highest bridge scores at the party were held by Miss Virginia Slabaugh and Miss Maria Diehl. Each received an attractive gift.

When tables were prepared for the serving of refreshments, Miss Bowers was assisted by her mother, her grandmother and Mrs. Harry Spencer. A pretty feature of the table decorations was the dainty corsage placed at each plate.

In the center of each corsage was a small card on which was written the betrothal news. Guests included the Misses Helen Battey, Dorothy Beals, Virginia Berry, Havia Diehl, Evelyn Farnsworth, Anne Haddon, Juanita James, Rowena Moore, Helen Meneg, Mary Jane Owens, Elizabeth Palmer, Adelaide Spencer, Grace Smiley, Virginia Slabaugh, Catherine Swales, Anne Tarver, Beth Whitson, Barbara Wascott and Fred Westcott of Santa Ana; Miss Elizabeth Townsend, Long Beach; Miss Catherine McCook of San Bernardino; Mrs. P. H. Norton, Mrs. Francis Selway, Mrs. Rolfe Hays of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Gilbert Arnold of San Diego.

Making the Effort
One thing I'd like to point out to you definitely—that no relationship in the world can be maintained satisfactorily without a little effort on both sides.

That's where girls in love, engaged girls, and married women often make a big mistake. They figure to themselves that, having attracted the man, won his love, and acknowledged their love for him, the deal is closed.

From then on they relax comfortably into being their natural selves—just that and no more. That would be all right, little girl friends, if our natural selves were all that they should be.

But take any one of us—take me for instance—and what's the result of being just one's natural self?

By nature I'm a fairly kind soul, but I get irritable with telephone operators, stake jokes bore me, and I have moods of depression over bad news from home, a decrease in salary, or the bad hang of a new dress. Also I like my food well-cooked and I'm apt to raise the roof if the dinner isn't good.

Not what you'd call a brutal nature—but still it has its little faults. Now it's all very well for me to indulge in these fits of annoyance and boredom when I'm all by myself with a free evening.

But were I engaged, married, or terribly in love, it would be unwise not to make the effort to overcome these little handicaps in my makeup. All of you are alike. You've all got your rough spots, your cross moods, and your periods of intense boredom with everything in the world.

Has it ever occurred to you that no matter how well you know the b. f. you ought to make the effort to be a bright cheerful kind of person when he's around?

Probably not. Probably you have said to yourself: "He's mine now, and I'm through making any effort about it." Silly of you, isn't it?

No man in the world is wholly a woman's unless he loves her truly. He may be bound to her by law, by poverty, by convention. But he isn't truly hers—until there's isn't a satisfactory relationship, unless his love for her is so strong that nothing will ever stamp her image from his heart.

And to win and hold that kind of love means effort. It means the effort of erasing frowns from the smooth white forehead. It means the effort of jerking oneself out of a fit of indigo blues.

It means the mental effort of making conversation when your brain is taken up with troubles. But oh, it's worth all the struggle. Because, don't you see, it perpetuates and sustains the relationship which is to give you your greatest happiness in life. And without some effort to your part that relationship will deteriorate into just another matter-of-fact, out-and-dried marriage.

Before marriage, effort sometimes seems more important to girls who aren't quite sure of their sweetie's affection.

If they only knew how much more important the after-marriage effort becomes.

If you would all only realize that it's when a relationship is permanent and secure that the greatest effort is needed to make it happy. (Copyright, 1928, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

County Federation of Women's Clubs Will Convene Soon

Clubwomen from all the federated clubs of Orange county are turning their thoughts to Friday, April 27, when the annual meeting and convention will be held all day at Fullerton, according to announcement by the president, Mrs. Albert Launer. It is thought over 200 women will attend from clubs outside the county, and each county club is entitled to representation by its president and one delegate for every twenty-five members.

The convention will meet promptly at ten o'clock, giving all an opportunity to be present when the meeting opens. Another pleasing feature is the assurance of Mrs. Launer that the meeting will close promptly at 4 p. m. The meeting will be held in the First Christian church at Fullerton, with members of the Fullerton Ebbl and Fullerton Woman's club acting as hostesses.

The morning session will include the report of the nominating committee by the chairman, Mrs. William Schumacher of Anaheim. Members of the committee are Mrs. C. F. Cross, Santa Ana, Mrs. Edna Downs, Huntington Beach, Mrs. R. G. Roberts, Costa Mesa. There will also be reports of county officers and club president, and reports of credential and other committees.

Election of officers will come just before adjournment for luncheon at 12:30. Luncheon will be served at the Mission Tea room and reservations are to be made with Mrs. W. E. Windle or Mrs. W. P. Alexander, of Fullerton.

Mrs. Leon De Larzes of Orange will be in charge of the music for the day, and Mrs. S. W. Stanley of Tustin is arranging the program. The afternoon session which will open at 1:30 o'clock will feature an address by Francis M. Fuitts of Los Angeles, "The Forest Cover of Southern California." Lillian Pray Palmer of San Diego will be present to explain the proposed revisions to the state constitution and delegates from all the clubs to the State convention to be held in San Diego May 8 to 12, are urged to be present.

The report of the resolutions committee by Mrs. S. W. Windle will close the day, and every clubwoman in Orange county is urged to be present at the convention.

Enjoyable Luncheon Is Compliment to Eastern Guest

Planned as a farewell courtesy to Mrs. Margaret Palmer, before her departure for her home in Westchester, Penna., was a charmingly appointed luncheon given at the end of the week, by Mrs. Victor Montgomery and her daughters, the Misses Gertrude and Louise Montgomery, in their home at 1418 North Main street.

Mrs. Palmer has been spending the past six months in Southern California, much of the time having been given to her program-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Coons of Occidental college. She is leaving tomorrow for the east, but after a summer in Westchester plans to return to California for the winter.

It was a happy little family gathering in her honor, and also complimented Miss Alfreda Hance of Wilmington, Del. and Dr. Coons of the Occidental faculty.

Gathered around the flower-decked table to enjoy the delectable menu, were the hostesses, Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. Palmer, Miss Hance, Dr. and Mrs. Coons, the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Coons of Anaheim, and his sister, Mrs. Robert Gregg. Mr. and Mrs. Tarver Montgomery were unable to be present because of heavy colds.

The United Brethren Aid society will hold an all-day meeting Thursday, with Mrs. Rohrer of Santa Ana Gardens, with a covered dish lunch at noon. Cars will leave the church for the Rohrer home, at 9:30 o'clock that morning, and those wishing transportation should be at the church.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

G. G. G. Class
At the latest meeting of the G. G. G. class of the United Brethren Sunday school, a short business session was followed by an evening of games and amusement features, enjoyed by 30 members and half that number of children.

In the business session, it was reported that the class pledged of $50 to the church, was paid when it came due, on Easter Sunday. At the close of this interval, the class divided into groups for the series of games.

Presbyterian Aid
The southeast section of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church held a very enjoyable meeting at the home of Mrs. O. S. McFarland on Friday afternoon.

Quantities of lovely spring flowers decorated the rooms. The women busied themselves drawing and cutting out patterns to be used for the church nursery.

While they worked they enjoyed a program given by Miss Anne Wetherall who sang very sweetly "Little Lullaby" and as an encore "Tell Me Little Gypsy" and Robert Forney "Meditation" and Mendelssohn's "Spring Song." Both of these little artists were accompanied by Mrs. Wetherall.

Delicious refreshments were served by the committee, Mrs. A. Was chairman assisted by Mrs. Myrtle Brown, Mrs. S. E. Littrell, Mrs. T. L. Lindley, Mrs. E. D. Caskey and Miss Jennie Kroese.

Northwest Section
The Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church met at the home of Elma S. Leonard, 2215 North Broadway Friday afternoon.

Beautiful spring blossoms adorned the pretty home, where about 60 members were present.

Miss Helen Marshall played two piano solos, followed by some steel guitar selections played by Miss Beemer.

The officers elected to serve for the coming year are as follows: Mrs. S. A. Jones, leader; Mrs. F. E. Dearth, assistant leader; Mrs. C. E. Hawk, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Dora Mann, calling chairman; Mrs. F. E. Dearth, flower chairman; Mrs. J. C. Kirby, transportation chairman; Mrs. Clair Johnson, sewing chairman; Mrs. Irma Soest, dinner chairman; Mrs. C. H. Baird, benevolence chairman; Mrs. Harold Pollock, press reporter.

After an enjoyable game the following committee served delicious refreshments: Mrs. C. S. Hill, Mrs. Elma Leonard, Mrs. J. C. Kirby, Mrs. L. Colyn, Miss Ward, Mrs. Kate Kettle and Mrs. A. M. McDermott.

Women's Society Party
The annual party Friday night, sponsored by the Women's society of the First Baptist church, for the men of the congregation will long remain in the memories of those present, as one of the outstanding events of the church year.

Two hundred and fifty men were seated for the 6:30 dinner which was attractively served by a bevy of young girls from the Bible school.

The lovely arrangement of flowers and greenery gave a home-like setting in the dining hall. The table appointments harmonizing with the personnel of the various tables. Conspicuous amongst them were Bachelor Bells, Winsome Widows, Irish Eyes, Jesters, Notables of History and others. Original words to familiar tunes, jokes and speeches called for noisy applause and frolic. Interspersing the nonsense was much fine sense evidencing the beautiful love and loyalty of these two organizations of the church, the Women's society and Brotherhood.

The Women's chorus under the direction of Mrs. W. H. Harrison, rendered two numbers with great credit both to singers and leader, closing their group with an original song to the men.

Mrs. Margaret Hardin's dramatic reading of "The Drama of Pity Hunter" was splendid. The parody was pantomimed by characters cast for their parts, even to the rising and falling of the curtain. Mrs. Albert Hill as toast-mistress pleasantly paid tribute to the honored guests of the occasion, and Elmer Steffenson cleverly responded.

Dr. Burlingame, acting pastor of the church, outspoke himself in a witicism of two flattering calls awaiting his decision. The company was kept in an uproar as he delineated his qualifications for the national positions. Miss Gertrude Minor, president of the Women's society, was complimented in various ways during the evening's festivities for her efficiency and charm. Miss Minor brought her evening's program to a close by the presentation to Mrs. Elmer Steffenson of a beautiful bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The committee on plans for the party was Mrs. L. R. Stearns, Mrs. James Weston, Mrs. Fred Cole, Mrs. W. H. Harrison, Mrs. W. Denver Doll and Mrs. Minnie Holmes.

Bridge Club

Orchid and yellow was used Friday afternoon by Mrs. Walter Wright and Mrs. Joe Steels as the color scheme for a party club at Mrs. Wright's home, 1022 West Sixth street.

Not only were the flowers carried out in the chosen tints but the gowns of the hostesses were also in those colors.

Seven tables of bridge were enjoyed. Winning scores were made by Mrs. Elton Roehm, Mrs. H. Park and Mrs. R. V. Cox was low. Each received a pretty gift.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by AILENE SUMNER

"Have you been reading Fred's stuff in the magazines?" a mutual friend of "Fred" asked me the other day. I confessed I hadn't. The mutual friend was insistent. "But you must! Don't you read New Yorker and Harpers and Century and Vanity Fair and—several others?" I did, but I couldn't place Fred's stories. "How did he sign them?" I finally asked. Then light came. Fred signed his stuff "Morris Burns," the Morris being his wife's maiden name and the Burns being his own last name.

Here's a turning of the tables! Many a wife has made fame for her husband as she wrote or painted or attorned under her married name. But I never before heard of a husband who saw no reason why his wife's own name shouldn't be perpetuated from his own fame. Nice, and why not?

FAVORITE BOOKS

"I'm so far behind on reading that I don't care whether I read one or two or three-year-old books," writes "Mrs. S." "Now I have time to read and don't know where to begin. Would you please list me your favorite dozen novels of the past couple of years, if that isn't too big an order?"

It's rather a big order to be held to just a dozen. But here they are in no order as to time or superiority.

"The Old Nick" by Bronson; "Kitty" and "Doomsday" by "Sorrell and Son" by Deeping; "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" by Wilder; "Giants of the Earth" by Rolvaag; "The Islanders" by Hull; "Time of Man" by Roberts; "The Grandmothers" by Westcott; "The Ugly Duchess" by Feuchtwanger; "Love Is Enough" by Kennedy; "Red Sky at Morning" by Young; "Three Wives" by Seymour; "Red Eyes" by Cannon; "My Fortune's Maggot" by Warner; "Wintersmoon" by Walpole.

NOT SO GOOD!

Feminists who seized upon the appointment of Mme. Kollontay as ambassador to Mexico from Russia as a feather in the cap of successful women may not be doing so much crowing since their feather was sent home and a man given her job. The mere fact of a man having a big job means nothing. It's what she does with the job that counts.

JEALOUS OF MOVIE GIRLS

Because he proved that his wife was insanely jealous of pretty motion picture actresses which he saw every time they went to the movies, and, moreover, that she was even fiendishly jealous of voices of women heard on the radio, a certain husband recently got a divorce.

There was a time when a premium was placed upon marital jealousy. This judge's decision was symbolic of the modern tendency to regard jealousy as an abnormality with which no sane person would be forced to live.

WE WILL NOT!

Fashion is trying to tell us that we must stop wearing sport clothes for each and every occasion and acquire a wardrobe of frilly, lacey, dressy afternoon garments for afternoon wear, if we would be even respectable. And the only answer to that is the answer which saner women give other fashion arbiters who insist we must have long hair again—

"Women will have neither long hair nor 'dress up' clothes for daytime wear until their entire status has changed. Women cannot be wage earners and change from office clothes to tea frocks for the appointment after work."

The Tinies eyed the funny man and right up to him they all ran. He really seemed quite friendly, and the Tinies weren't afraid. "Well, who are you?" wee Copy said. "And where'd you get that wooden head? I'll bet right in some work shop is the place where you were made."

"You're right," replied their new-found friend. "I'm made of wood, but I can bend. If it were not for being square, I'd be just like a man. 'Course I can do a lot of things that men can't do. I have big wings. No man I've ever known could fly, but look at me, I can!"

"You bet you can. We've seen you fly," said Scouty, "twice up in the sky. I wish that we could fly like that. I know right where we'd go. You see, a bird flew down on us and promptly started quite a fuss. He took poor Clowney with him. Where they've gone we do not know."

"If we could fly, we'd take to air and start in searching everywhere, until we found the monstrous bird that took our little friend. The search would be real hard, no doubt, but I feel sure that we'd find out just where the big bird flew to. Then we'd lend a helping hand."

"So, that's your trouble," said the man. "Well, I will help you, if I can. It isn't nice to lose a friend. No wonder you feel bad. Now do just as I say and then we may find Clowney once again. And, if we do 'twill tickle me to know I've made you glad."

And then he stooped down very low, and said, "Up in the air we'll go. Hop on my back, you 'Tinymites.' The bunch all yelled 'Tut-tut!' They hoped upon his back real quick. The way he took to air was slick. He spread his wings and

EAT THE THEATRE

WEST END THEATRE

A breath-taking, hair-raising, cross-country horse-race—love and comedy and pathos—are a few of the outstanding features of "The Wild West Show," the production starring Hoot Gibson which opened at the West End last night. With Hoot, the rough-riding favorite of the screen, as the star one may be assured of a picture that is crowded with thrills.

The Gibson personality and the famous Gibson smile dominate the entire picture.

WEST COAST-WALKER

The story of Gilda Gray, star of "The Devil Dancer" now at the West Coast-Walker theater, is the real Cinderella tale. Born in Krakow, Poland, of hard working peasant folk, she came to America at the age of eight.

First settling in Bayonne, N. J., her family later moved to the Polish colony of Cudahy, Wis., where her father worked in the packing plant. Gilda, then plain Marianna Michalska, spent an uneventful childhood trudging back and forth to the local Parochial school with the kid next door, Lenore Ulric. One New Year's night, when Mary was sixteen, she met a political friend of her father's, who gave her a job in his tiny restaurant. Mary was hired to sing "ballads" but some time later, following the lure of a jazz tune, she found herself shimmying. For this achievement her boss "fired" her.

By this time Mary had become "May Gray" for professional reasons.

After many disheartening adventures, Miss Gray was introduced to Sophie Tucker. That wise and jovial show-woman promptly suggested a change of name. "Make it Gilda—Gilda Gray," she advised. and "Gilda" she became. It was early in 1919 when Gilda made her first stage appearance in the Shubert "Gaities of 1919," and became an overnight "sensation." From then on, her rise was rapid and sure.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

In "Stand and Deliver," Rod La Rocque's new vehicle which comes to the Yost Broadway theater Wednesday, Donald Crisp, the director, splendidly utilizes a dull setting to create a dull mood. La Rocque, as Roger Norman, an adventuresome young Englishman, who loves excitement, is bored by the futility and dullness of his London club.

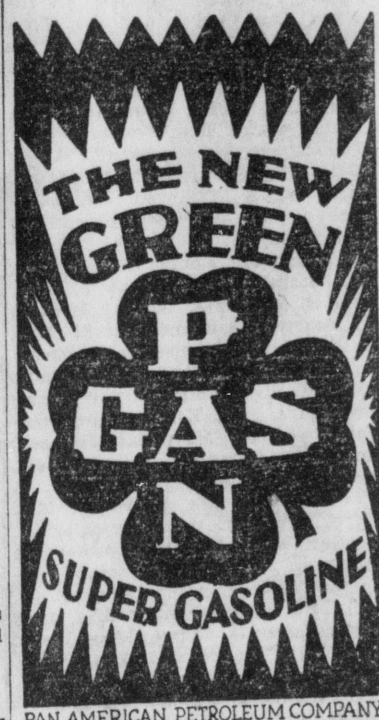

Crisp's setting accentuates this mood. It is a fashionable men's club. Heavy furniture is everywhere. There is a sense of solidity, conventionality, stodginess, about the room. A servant walks slowly and softly through the place—a precious silence which must not be disturbed. La Rocque stands in the center and looks about. Nearby, an old gentleman is asleep. Two decadent men are engrossed in a game of checkers. The whole feeling of the club is futile, stagnant.

After sensing the dullness of this club, according to Crisp, it will be easy for a motion picture audience to understand why Roger Norman decides to join the army of Greece in quest of the thrills attendant to the quelling of banditry in that country. The London club setting is merely an introductory one which establishes the character of Norman.

Lupe Velez plays the feminine lead in "Stand and Deliver," with Warner Oland, Louis Natheaux and Clarence Burton also prominent in the cast.

AUTOMATIC RADIO LATEST INVENTION

NEW YORK, April 16.—Bringing in one's favorite radio station simply by pressing a button located on the front panel, instead of turning dials, is the latest wrinkle in radio receivers. It is the development of Harry N. Marvin, 72-year-old millionaire inventor.

Marvin and another inventor had been working simultaneously on the same idea, although unknown to each other. Commander E. F. McDonald, radio manufacturer, has secured the patent rights to the discoveries of both.

"The automatic radio set, with its buttons, represents an advance in radio reception, just as the self-starter button was an advance in the art of automobile," McDonald stated. "The self-starter made it unnecessary for the motorist to wear out his arm cranking his car. The radio set's station-buttons will enable the radio fan to bring in his favorite station immediately without the necessity of straining his nerves in the accurate adjustment of all sorts of knobs."

"Of course, today we have simplified radio sets," McDonald continued. "The one-dial receivers have made it easy for the impatient radio fan. But with the automatic set, with its half dozen buttons for as many stations, once he 'logs' his familiar broadcasters and adjusts the buttons, he's all set. If he wants to do his own tuning at any time, particular in his search for distance, he can do so by merely pushing an extra button which disconnects the automatic feature."

Hawaii Machine Gun Test Succeeds

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Machine guns in the hands of infantrymen provide a formidable defense of Hawaiian islands against landings from small boats, the army has discovered after tests under all conditions of light and darkness.

Dummy boat loads in the form of rafts were towed toward the shore in Hawaii at a speed of four miles an hour. During daylight it was necessary to cease firing when the dummies were within 400 yards because the marksmanship of the gunners threatened to destroy the targets.

Firing in the darkness without artificial illumination, the machine guns punctured 35 of 48 targets on two rafts, although 95 per cent of the hits were found to have been ricochets. With the light of a quarter moon or with tracer bullets or artificial illumination provided by flares, the war department reported that results more nearly approached those obtained during daylight.

Music Arranged
By Soviet Buyers

MOSCOW, April 16.—Grain-buying organizations in many parts of the Soviet union are conducting their trade to the strains of brass bands in an effort to compensate the peasants for the loss of the old thrill in private bargaining.

The modern system of price-fixing in advance and other efficiency devices have deprived the old timer of the excitement of barter which zestfully was entered into by both seller and buyer. As encouragement to the peasant to come to town, grain-buyers now have him met on the road by a brass band. He is escorted to the market place, entertained and listens to speeches assuring him that he is one of the many pillars of the new Soviet state.

NEW BOOKS
IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

A pirate story that is really true, and as thrilling as any story you have ever read, is "Count Luckner, the Sea Devil," by Lowell Thomas. Told supposedly in the words of the gallant count himself, the daring exploits related hold your breathless interest to the very last page.

"Some Recollections of a Western Ranchman," written by the Honorable William French, of New Mexico, is the chronicle of a tenderfoot's experiences in the Far West in the 'eighties and 'nineties. Tales of cowboys, broncho-busting, round-ups and shootings, are told in a genial and hearty manner.

A recent book which is sure to appeal to many people, especially to those who delight in travel, is Robert B. Ludy's "Historical Hotels of the World." First he describes the inn of antiquity, then early European and American hotels, and finally, the famous ones of the present day. The book contains a world of anecdotes and gossip, and tells stories of scores of well-known historical characters.

"The Best Plays of 1926-1927," by Burns Mantle, includes 10 dramas all of which have received the enthusiastic applause of American play-goers. A few of the titles are: In Abraham's Bosom, The Constant Wife, Saturday's Children, and Chicago.

Here are the titles of other worth while volumes which have just been received at the library: "Algeria from Within," by R. V. C. Bodley, "If You Go to South America," by H. L. Foster, "D. L. Moody," by Gamaliel Bailey, "Prohibition and Christianity," by John Erskine, "The Winged Horse," by Auslander and Hill, "A Son of Mother India Answers," by Dhan Mukherji, "The First World Flight," by Lowell Thomas, "Book of Opportunities," by R. H. Platt, "Modern Automobile Painting," by M. J. Pearce, "A. E. P.," by Maj. Gen. Hunter Liggett, "Television," by A. Dunsdale, "Rebuilding the Child," by F. H. Richardson, "Captain John Smith," by E. K. Chatterton, "Auction Bridge for Beginners," by Whitehead, "India by Air," by Sir S. Hoare, "Your Nervous Child," by Dr. E. Wexberg, "Here Is England," by M. B. Lister, "Tisn't What You Know But—Are You Intelligent," by Harper Bros., "Psychology," by Experimenter, "What May I Believe?" by L. K. Elmer, "I Escape," by J. L. Hardy, "The Earth and Its Rhythms," by Schuchert and Levene, "Understanding Ourselves," by Dearden, "Stage Antiquities," by J. T. Allen, and "Aspects of the Novel," by E. M. Forster.

Popular Books Reserved by Public Library
The policy of reserving books at the public library has proved to be a real service to its patrons, as is shown by the fact that nearly three times as many books are reserved now as were at this time last year.

Any book of non-fiction which is found to be out when a patron asks for it may be reserved free of charge—that is, he will be notified either by telephone or postal card when the book is available for him. This service is particularly valuable in the case of a very popular volume, such as "The Royal Road to Romance," which would seldom be found on the shelf even though the library had a dozen copies. One merely awaits his turn for it, and is always sure he will get the book.

Concerning fiction, the library only reserves those new books which are placed in what is called the "duplicate rental collection," which consists of extra copies of the more popular seven-day fiction. For the small sum of five cents, these books, of which there are now about eighty, are held in the same way as non-fiction.

At the present time, "Jalna," by Mazo de la Roche, is the most popular of the fiction books, closely followed by "Kitty," by Warwick Deeping, "Adam and Eve," by John Erskine, "Death Comes for the Archbishop," by Willa Cather, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," by Thornton Wilder, "Dusty Answer," by Lehmann, and "A President Is Born," by Fannie Hurst. Among the non-fiction, "Mother India," by Katherine Mayo, heads the list, while "The Story of Philosophy," by Durant, "Glorious Adventure," by Halliburton, "Companionship," by Judge Lindsay, "We," by Charles Lindbergh, "Revolt in the Desert," by Col. Lawrence, "Trader Horn," by Horn, and "Napoleon," by Ludwig, are in continual demand.

THE CAMPAIGN LOG
By United Press

APRIL 16
George Lunn of Schenectady, N. Y., has been selected to present to the New York State Democratic committee tomorrow the resolution that will formally place Governor Al E. Smith before the nation as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Active work in behalf of Frank O. Lowden as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination will be started soon in the east, it was learned through appointment in New York of an executive committee for the Lowden-for-President association.

Dr. Arthur P. Keegan, Republican leader in Philadelphia, said that the nomination of Governor Al Smith of New York as the Democratic presidential candidate would serve to make Pennsylvania a doubtful state in the November election.

The New York State Hoover for President committee in a statement said the commerce secretary would receive the voice delegations from all territories, including the Virgin Islands, at the Republican National convention.

Dr. S. E. Nicholson, national secretary of the Anti-Saloon league, said that his organization was prepared to work for the defeat of Governor Al Smith, "who has made New York the wettest and most lawless state in the Union." In the event Smith received the Democratic presidential nomination.

Tin Whistles Win
Wisconsin Favor

APPLETON, Wis., April 12.—Marble time has arrived but the boys in the Fox River valley have a new pastime, that of playing flageolets or tin whistles.

The flageolet was brought into prominence by Theodore A. Steinmetz, organizer of the largest boys' hands in the world at Ashland, Wis., and St. Cloud, Minn.

It was done in an effort to establish boys' hands in Wisconsin. The experiment entails practically no expense as the instrument used can be purchased for 10 cents.

Steinmetz supervised meetings at several places in the valley after working out a musical scale on the flageolet which coincided with that of most of the wind instruments.

Hundreds of boys turned out for the meetings held at Appleton, Green Bay, Neenah-Menasha and other cities. The simplest airs were worked out by blackboard instructions with numbers for the fingering of the holes which made the difference in tone.

In a few weeks examinations will be given. The boys who have not mastered the flageolet are eliminated. The others, then are entitled to further instructions under Steinmetz.

Sailing Tonnage
Shows Decrease

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The steadily waning importance of the sailing ship in modern maritime history is illustrated by figures compiled by the navigation bureau of the commerce department, which show that American sailing tonnage stands today only slightly above what it was in George Washington's time.

From about half a million tons in 1776 American sailing tonnage rose rapidly in three-quarters of a century to almost 4,500,000 tons in 1855, when the famous Yankee clipper ships carried the bulk of the world's commerce on the seven seas.

With the invention of the steam vessel, the romantic clipper ships steadily decreased in importance until they virtually disappeared from the seas. Even today, however, the United States leads the world in sailing vessels with a total tonnage of 983,742. This represents about half the world's present sailing tonnage.

In steam tonnage, the United States with 13,873,720 ranks second to Great Britain which is supreme with a total tonnage of 20,612,487.

Girl Hears Siren
Of Police Instead
Of Wedding Bells

OAKLAND, April 12.—Thwarted romance turned to fury when Beach Soule, floorwalker manager of an Oakland department store, failed to appreciate the reason why Viola Wayland, 21, wanted her position back after she had been discharged.

Viola wanted to get married, but she must keep her job because the groom-to-be was not earning enough to support two. Everything was set for the marriage when the fatal Saturday night came along.

After being told that her services were no longer required, Viola mediated. She finally decided to state her case to the boss. May be he would see her point of view and reinstate her.

But Soule was hard hearted. The interests of the business must come before romance, or even matrimony.

When given a firm "No" to her request for reinstatement, Viola became enraged. She seized a knife from a cutlery counter and sallied forth to do battle. Soule received the thrust on his bare wrist and received a severed tendon as a result.

But the struggle was over almost as soon as it started. Soule managed to get the knife from the desperate Amazon and police were summoned.

And so Viola listened to the clanging sound of steel doors enclosing her in a jail cell instead of to the merry tinkle of wedding bells.

Starts His Fires
While Still Abrid

LONGVIEW, Wn., April 12.—"Oh! how I hate to get up in the morning," means little to Merl L. Basset. He doesn't mind it at all. Inspired by the memory of chilly and frosty mornings, Basset invented a fire-starting device which does away with the necessity of leaving a warm bed.

The device is electrical, with an alarm clock control. The clock is set and when it rings an electrical contact is made with an asbestos box at the door of the furnace or stove. The current ignites a kerosene burner and this in turn makes contact with the fuel in the firebox by means of a fuse.

After a sufficient interval, another control arrangement causes a blower to function which extinguishes the kerosene burner.

Then Basset gets up and dresses in a warm house.

Companion Bride
And Husband Will Reside Together

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—Aubrey Roselle, the companionate husband, and Josephine Malmgren, Julius, his companionate bride, have decided to live here together.

The decision followed the Kansas couple's refusal to appear in a "Roman parade" show produced by St. S. Millard, the man who introduced Queen Marie to Seattle.

Roselle and Miss Halderman-Julius asserted they were to appear in regular vaudeville and refused the "men only" job, after which he gave up his room in the athletic club and she gave up her room in the Biltmore and together they took a Hollywood apartment.

Profit taking cut the advance in grain but was overwhelmed with outside buying in wheat and oats.

Final figures: Wheat, 2 1/2% higher; corn, 1/2 to 3/4 cent up and oats, 1/2 to 3/4 cent higher; nearby deliveries soared. Provisions lost part of their gains but closed higher.

The wheat market was another of the broad and spectacular markets that upset all calculations last week.

Cash prices advanced one to two cents but wheat advanced mostly to the strength in wheat. Cash oats advanced half a cent. The oats market was a spirited affair and prices took their sharpest spurt in many weeks.

Cash oats advanced 1/4 cents.

Adopts Coveralls
As Pulpit Attire

HENDERSON, Ia., April 16.—There was no fashion parade on Easter Sunday at the Christian church here.

As a rebuke to those members of his congregation who consider Easter Sunday as primarily a day to "dress up," the Rev. D. G. Noland appeared in the pulpit in overalls, and a large group of his sympathizers were in overalls.

Noland said he had heard of a number of people who did not attend church because they could not afford to keep up their appearances in the "church standard." "I know good men," he said, "who feel that our present day churches are on dress parade. If my clothes keep me away from church, I shall wear plain clothes."

Recently Noland and his close followers have been appearing at Sunday services in overalls, and the congregation has shown a healthy growth. This will be continued, the pastor said, adding: "I want the working people to know my church and I am one of them. I do not want one Christianity because he feels he cannot dress as some people. I am sure the clothes do not make the man. I want to know about his heart."

Noland was ordained by Dr. R. H. Miller, pastor of Independence Boulevard Christian church, Kansas City, and is a former Drake University student. He has been in evangelistic work and since has become a "sick church" doctor. He is closing his third term of work in Henderson.

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE

CHICAGO, April 16.—With wheat leading the bulge, all grains shot into another sharp advance on the Chicago board of trade today. The last week was still in full swing in wheat and the tone was steadily stronger. Corn advanced on wheat's strength and oats on crop damage and low stocks.

Profit taking cut the advance in grain but was overwhelmed with outside buying in wheat and oats.
